A New Chapter In Life

Years seemed to pass quickly.

Ji-ah became more confident.

Ji-ho became even more mischievous.

The BTS members remained permanent fixtures in their lives.

Jimin and Y/N's relationship grew stronger.

One morning, Jimin looked at Y/N.

"I have something to ask you."

She smiled.

"What?"

He reached into his pocket.

Y/N's eyes widened.

"Jimin..."

He knelt.

"Y/N, you've been my best friend, my love, and the mother of our children."

She covered her mouth.

"I want to spend the rest of my life with you."

He opened the ring box.

"Will you marry me?"

Tears filled her eyes.

“Yes.”

Jimin smiled.

She hugged him.

And from behind the curtains—

CHEERING.

They turned.

All six members were there.

Jimin stared.

“You were spying?!”

Jin shouted:

“WE WERE SUPPORTING!”

- The Family Learns About the Engagement

Jimin announced the engagement.

His mother cried.

His father hugged him.

The children jumped around.

Ji-ah asked:

“Does this mean Mommy gets to be Mommy forever?”

Y/N laughed through her tears.

“Yes.”

Ji-ho cheered.

“Wedding!”

Jin immediately volunteered.

“I’ll organize it.”

Everyone shouted:

“NO!”

Wedding Planning Chaos

Jin became obsessed with wedding planning.

He created spreadsheets.

Color palettes.

Menus.

Guest lists.

Schedules.

Jimin stared at the documents.

“You made a 47-page wedding plan?”

“Forty-eight.”

“Why?”

“Page forty-eight has dessert.”

Yoongi nodded.

“At least he has priorities.”

The Kids Choose Their Roles

Ji-ah wanted to be the flower girl.

Ji-ho wanted to carry the rings.

Jimin smiled.

“Perfect.”

Ji-ho asked:

“Can Uncle Jungkook carry me?”

Jungkook immediately said:

“Absolutely.”

Jimin sighed.

“Of course.”

The Wedding Day

The wedding was intimate and beautiful.

The family gathered.

The six members stood beside Jimin.

Y/N walked toward him.

Jimin’s eyes filled with tears.

She smiled.

He whispered:

“You look beautiful.”

She reached him.

Their hands joined.

The vows were heartfelt.

When they exchanged rings, the children cheered.

Then Jin whispered:

“Don’t cry.”

Jimin whispered:

“I’m not.”

“You are.”

“No.”

“You absolutely are.”

The Reception

The reception was chaotic but beautiful.

Jin gave a speech.

It started beautifully.

Then he revealed embarrassing stories about Jimin.

“Did you know Jimin once practiced proposing in front of a mirror?”

Jimin covered his face.

Y/N laughed.

“I didn’t know that!”

Jimin groaned.

“Jin!”

Everyone laughed.

Then Hobi gave a heartfelt speech.

“We watched Jimin grow.”

He looked at Y/N.

“And then we watched him become even happier.”

Jimin smiled.

“Thank you.”

The Family Dance

Jimin danced with Y/N.

Then Ji-ah joined.

Then Ji-ho.

Then Hobi.

Then Jungkook.

Then Taehyung.

Soon, everyone was dancing.

Even Yoongi.

Jin stared.

“YOONGI IS DANCING!”

Yoongi stopped.

“I was moving.”

“That’s dancing.”

“No.”

Everyone laughed.

ARMY’s Reaction

Photos from the wedding eventually appeared online.

Fans reacted with overwhelming emotion.

Some were shocked.

Some cried.

Many wished the family happiness.

The most popular comments were about the BTS members.

“The six uncles look happier than the bride and groom.”

“Jin definitely cried.”

“Yoongi pretending he isn’t emotional is hilarious.”

“Jungkook looks like the world’s proudest uncle.”

Jimin laughed while reading.

Y/N leaned against him.

“Do you regret everything?”

He looked at his wife.

His children.

His family.

His six brothers.

“No.”

He smiled.

“Not for one second.”

Years Later

Years later, the house was still loud.

Ji-ah is older now.

Ji-ho was taller.

The six members still visited.

Jin still brought too much food.

Jungkook still played games with the kids.

Taehyung still took photographs.

Hobi still danced.

Namjoon still reads books with them.

Yoongi still pretended he wasn't attached.

Jimin and Y/N sat together on the couch.

Ji-ah leaned against her mother.

Ji-ho leaned against Jimin.

Jimin looked around.

He remembered the day everything had been exposed.

He remembered the fear.

The confusion.

The shock.

And now?

He smiled.

“What?”

Y/N asked.

“Nothing.”

He kissed her forehead.

“Just thinking how lucky I am.”

The Secret Was Never the Family

That evening, everyone gathered for dinner.

The house was filled with laughter.

Jimin looked around the table.

His wife.

His children.

His parents.

His extended family.

His six brothers.

Everyone he loved was there.

Ji-ah raised her glass.

“To family!”

Ji-ho raised his juice.

“To family!”

Jin raised his drink.

“To food!”

Everyone laughed.

Jimin looked at Y/N.

She smiled.

He reached for her hand.

The secret he had once been terrified of losing wasn't really a secret anymore.

And perhaps that was the greatest lesson.

The world knew Jimin as a performer.

Millions knew his music.

Fans knew his smile.

But his family knew something else.

They knew the man behind it all.

The man who loved deeply.

The father who carried sleepy children upstairs.

The husband who still got nervous when his wife smiled at him.

The son who wanted his parents to be proud.

And the brother who somehow ended up with six extremely chaotic honorary uncles for his children.

Jin suddenly stood.

"I have an announcement!"

Jimin immediately groaned.

"What now?"

Jin grinned.

"I've decided we're having a family vacation."

Everyone cheered.

Jimin stared at the ceiling.

“Why did I ever tell you people?”

Y/N laughed.

“You didn’t.”

Jimin looked at her.

“Exactly.”

She kissed his cheek.

“I love you.”

He smiled.

“I love you too.”

Ji-ah shouted:

“Group hug!”

Everyone rushed toward them.

Jimin disappeared beneath a mountain of family members.

“HELP!”

Y/N laughed.

“No.”

Jimin laughed too.

And beneath all the chaos, laughter, teasing, and love…

He knew one thing for certain.

He would choose this family every single time.
